NOTICE OF REASONS FOR REJECTION

Patent Application No.: 2003-277766
Drafting Date of Notice: August 24, 2006
Patent Office Examiner: Satoshi Kondo (ID No. 8730 5E00)
Representative Patent Attorney: kyousei Kakimoto
Applied Provisions: Article 29(2)

The present application is rejected for the following reason. Any opinions in this matter should be submitted in an Argument within sixty days of the mailing date of this Notice.

Reason

Since it is deemed that the invention relating to the following claims of the present application could have been easily invented by a person having ordinary skill in the field of art to which this invention pertains on the basis of inventions disclosed in the following publications distributed in Japan or elsewhere or inventions which were available to the public via electronic communications lines, before the filing of the present application, the present invention cannot receive a patent according to the provisions of Article 29(2) of the Patent Law.

Notes

Regarding the invention relating to claims 1-6

Document 1: Japanese Patent Application Laid-Open (JP-A) No. S61-123916

It is recognized that the "writing signal (42)" disclosed in the above-listed document 2 corresponds to the "interrupting signal" in the invention relating to these claims, and that applying the subject matter disclosed in document 2 to the invention disclosed in the above-listed document 1 to configure the invention relating to these claims could have been easily conceived of by a person skilled in the art.

At the present time, no reasons for rejection have been found for inventions relating to claims other than those indicated in the present Notice of Reasons for Rejection. In the event that new reasons for rejection are discovered, notification thereof will be given.
